This paper aims at taking a fresh look at Freudian psychoanalytical theory from a modern perspective. Freudian psychology is a science based on the unconscious (id) and the conscious (ego). Various aspects of Freudian thinking are examined from a modern perspective and the relevance of the psychoanalytical theory of consciousness is projected.

Freudian Theory and Consciousness: A Conceptual Analysis

Irma's Injection is the name given to the dream that Sigmund Freud dreamt on the night of July 23, 1895. Freud used his analysis of this dream to arrive at his theory that dreams are wish fulfillments.He described his ideas on dream theory in his book The Interpretation of Dreams.. Freud later noted that "Irma's Injection" was the first dream he had meticulously interpreted.
