"First they came ..." is the poetic form of a post-war confessional prose by the German Lutheran pastor Martin Niemöller (1892-1984). It is about the cowardice of German intellectuals and certain clergy—including, by his own admission, Niemöller himself—following the Nazis' rise to power and subsequent incremental purging of their chosen targets, group after group.

First they came ... - Wikipedia

Nobody Told Me is Hollie's memoir of her first three years and nine months of parenthood, ending with her daughter's first day of school. As a performance poet, she was used to being in front of large audiences, but was unprepared for the ownership people would feel over her once she was a parent.
