Harman Kardon 900+ is not only the most elegantly styled unit for the period but is also one of the best sounding flagship quad units available. Conservatively rated at 45 Watts X 4 channels it clearly out performs my Marantz 4400 and Sansui QRX 9001 in dynamic sound and especially in SQ decode mode.

I have a Harman Kardon 900+ circa 1974. I am having trouble getting the CD-4 decoder to work. The CD-4 section in this unit uses four IC's and about 34 discrete transistors. The CD-4 light illuminates when playing a CD-4 record but the sound is very distorted.

My Harman Kardon 900+ was the first quadrasonic receiver that I ever owned. I bought it used from a second hand Hi-Fi store in 1984 for $100. The store owner told me that it had a bad channel. As it turned out that was one of many problems.

The very first amplifier I bought was a Harman Kardon PC-200, aka The Prelude. It was a 10Wpc integrated, but I chose it over the competition for some of the same reasons that the HK 990 has appealed to me. Almost all amps back in the 1960s had a plain cake-pan chassis with tubes, capacitors, and transformers studding the top.

Harman Kardon's design goal is to have the highest possible design quality for the price, rather than unnecessary features. The Harman Kardon model 330 series (330, 330A, B and C) from 1968-1979 is an example of the company's design philosophy, a basic no frills stereo transistor receiver but with excellent performance in its class.
