A living trust can be revocable or irrevocable. Revocable means you can change or cancel any of the trust ' s provisions. Irrevocable means that once you set up the terms of the trust, it can ' t be changed (or at least not without a lot of headache). A trust can also change from revocable while the grantor is alive,...

What Is a Trust? Everything You Need to Know ...

A revocable living trust is a written agreement designating someone to be responsible for managing your property, It's called a living trust because it's established while you're alive. It's "revocable" because, as long as you're mentally competent, you can change or dissolve the trust at any time at your own discretion for any reason.
