The Quran A Chronological Modern

I attempt here to make an easy-to-read version in an unbiased way using modern English. There are people that feel threatened by Islam as a religion. Some people assume that a Muslim translating the Qur'an into English softens the language to make it more pleasant and less threatening, so they can spread the religion.

Classical Arabic is not modern Arabic and even modern Arabic is not succinctly translated in to English. Also use of the word bastards in the text is inappropriate at best. Gave a two star rating because the man certainly did give it the old college try, but the quran, or any other religious scripture for that matter, should not be treated so flippantly as to include profanity when there are ...

The Quran was revealed in Arabic to the Prophet Mohammad in 610 CE over 22 years. In the first twelve years of the revelation, the Prophet was living in Makkah (Mecca). Persecution, at the hands of the tribe of Quraysh then forced him and his companions to leave to Al-Madeenah, in what is known as the Hijrah (immigration), where he lived the last ten years.

Chapters in the Quran are not arranged in the chronological order of revelation, and the precise order has eluded scholars. According to tradition, Muhammad told his companions the traditional placement of every Wahy as he revealed it, and Wm Theodore de Bary, an East Asian studies expert, describes that "The final process of collection and codification of the Quran text was guided by one over ...
