Apple HomePod review: Great sound, but it's trapped in ...

Apple's HomePod is the best-sounding wireless smart speaker available, and you can control it by voice using Apple's virtual assistant, Siri. But the HomePod is worth considering only if you're an iPhone owner and a subscriber to Apple Music (or are willing to be)—don't buy it if you want to keep streaming Spotify.

Apple HomePod review | TechRadar

Apple HomePod review That Apple does things in its own sweet time is no new discovery. But even by its own standards, the company arrived late to the wireless speaker party. But being late is perfectly acceptable if you're the life and soul when you arrive – and that's pretty much the story with the HomePod.

Apple HomePod Review | For Apple Fans Only | Digital Trends

Apple's HomePod is the best-sounding smart speaker around. It's a shame that Siri and tied down software make it a frustrating buy.

Apple HomePod Review | Trusted Reviews

Apple HomePod. It's a high-quality smart speaker for your Apple Music account and iTunes library, with some Siri voice assistant features that help especially with smart home usage. The hardware is excellent, but right now, Apple doesn't have the broad vision for voice-assisted living that the Amazon Alexa and Google Assistant platforms show.

Apple HomePod Review & Rating | PCMag.com

The HomePod is a bass monster, for better or worse. On Red or Dead the double bass sounds like it has a single string and is being played in a small closet. Thumps and booms are pretty much what the HomePod is all about and it's very clear after a single listen to a track with very controlled bass.
